The image shows two identical handwriting practice sections. Each section is enclosed in a rectangular border. On the left side of each section, the words "Herdie Week" are written in a decorative, cursive font. "Herdie" is written in a smaller, simpler cursive, while "Week" is larger and more ornate, with a leafy flourish above it. Below "Week" is the word "Week" again, but smaller and with a leafy flourish below it. To the right of this text are six vertical dotted lines, each starting with a solid dot at the top, intended for tracing practice. On the far right of each section is a small, decorative leaf flourish.
